

WILD ELK FEDERATION

Mission Statement:

To ensure the future of elk and other wildlife.

The Wild Elk Federation is a Canadian wildlife conservation organization established in 2006. The federation's headquarters are in Leduc, Alberta and its membership and chapters are located in the western provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan, and British Columbia.

In support of this mission, the Wild Elk Federation is committed to:

- ◆ Conserving, restoring and enhancing wildlife habitat;
- ◆ Promoting the sound management of wild, free-ranging elk;
- ◆ Fostering cooperation among national, provincial, and private organizations and individuals in wildlife management and habitat conservation; and
- ◆ Educating members and the public about habitat conservation and wildlife management.

The Wild Elk Federation's success stems largely from its dedicated and enthusiastic membership, particularly its local volunteer committee members who organize annual fundraising banquets, raffles and events in their Communities. Dollars from banquets, raffles and casinos fund conservation projects that have been carefully reviewed and approved.

Memberships:

Lifetime Membership: $500.00
Supporting Membership: $20.00
Outfitters Membership: $200.00
Voting Membership: $20.00

The Wild Elk Federation fosters co-operation and dialogue through private/public partnerships with resource users and management agencies. They work closely with private timber companies to improve wildlife values on their forestlands and also partner with the coal industry in an effort to protect lands reclaimed for wildlife and the wildlife that's flourished on these mine sites.
